The Annapurna Circuit trek is considered one of the top treks in the world with its spectacular Himalayan scenery and its mosaic of traditional villages and monasteries influenced by Tibetan Buddhism. You walk through rhododendron forests as well as open-vista trails surrounded by towering peaks before crossing the Thorong La Pass at 5,416 meters (17,769 feet). Finally, you descend to the spiritual center of Muktinath and the arid landscape beyond the Annapurna Himalayan chain.

From the top of the Thorong La, you can see the magnificent panorama of Mt. Dhaulagiri (8,172m), Manaslu (8,163m), Annapurna I (8,091m) and its five sister peaks, as well as Fishtail (6,993m), Lamjung (6,983m), Hiunchuli (6,441m), and the Nilgiri range. Other than the day crossing the Thorong La Pass, the Annapurna Circuit trek is considered the least difficult of the major treks in Nepal because of its grade and the amount of valley walking. Also, the trek we do is not the full circuit because the construction of a road has introduced truck and jeep traffic after Jomsom, where we end our walk. We can arrange the full Annapurna circuit trek or a combination with Annapurna Base Camp at your request.
